Excerpt: . present generation, who encountered great perils and privations in subduing those lands on which their descendants now repose with none to make them afraid. Those who take pleasure in such researches must refer to the original records, which are too voluminous to be published. The reports of the processioners and counters of tobacco plants in this parish for the years 1726, 7, 8, and 9 are curious, as bringing to our minds the former inhabitants of that region of country lying upon the headwaters of the Mattapony and Rappahannock rivers, even to the great mountains, and including the present counties of Spotsylvania, Culpeper, Rappahannock, and parts of Orange and Green. So full is the enumeration of names, and so minute the description of the country, that one who is familiar with it can people it with a past generation, assigning to many of...
