Think About Me? Dear Future Nana, I know this may be coming to you too late, but I feel it is important for you to know that nobody hates you; you are just too special for people to understand. . I love you. Never underestimate your parents.

Love life and the people in it. Take care of everyone for me. -

Nana Dear 45-year-old Me, You ve always wanted a swimming pool; you nearly had it. At least, dad said he d put one in the house he built, but he was always making empty promises. You wear pretty makeup, hopefully not like mum s electric blue eye shadow that she used to wear every day! I hope you ve found yourself, your place and your heart. -Ti. Dear Future Me: In front of me I can see amazingly beautiful grassland and some fruit trees. When I turn around, I can see a lion just following a man and some dangerous snakes playing with a little...
